

CHALLENGE INVITATIONAL GOLF TOURNAMENT

March 30, 2010

Diamondhead Country Club

DEFINITION:

The CIGT is an evangelistic event designed to provide an opportunity for pastors and others to invite unsaved/unchurched golfers to participate in an all-expense paid golf tournament at a course that most are unlikely to afford with the intent of sharing the gospel with them.

DESCRIPTION:

1. A pastor invites 4 unsaved men to play in a golf tournament. On the day of the tournament, the pastor serves as caddy for the four men he has invited.
2. Snacks are provided on the course and a meal is provided before and after the tournament where prizes are awarded and a testimony is given by a noted Christian golfer.
3. Pastors are asked to follow up the next evening to discuss any spiritual matters that the men may have.
4. A golf pro (who will share his testimony at the banquet) will be on the practice range to give tips to golfers.

COSTS:

Sponsors are solicited to provide sponsorships for the tournament at a set amount per hole.

Pastors need to provide names and contact information of Christian business persons in their church that we could contact for sponsorships. This information needs to be into the associational office by February 10.

Teams need to be formed and registered with the associational office as soon as possible.
